COUGARS OPEN HOOP PLAY

C Team Loses As A And B Quintets Win In Round At Folsom Friday Night

Coach L. A. Brown turned his Cougars loose on the basketball court at Folsom high school Friday night and they brought him back two victories.

It was their first opportunity at stalking prey this season and the A and B quintets both brought home the bacon while the C team lost a close one, 15 to 13.

Next Friday night at 7 o'clock, Folsom will parade three teams on the Cougar court, completing the home and home series.

The A game came to El Dorado, 18 to 13, and the B game was won, 30 to 15.

Don Thompson led the Bees in their attack and piled up ten points while Boggs and Drennan helped him out by preventing Folsom scores.

Baker, at center, tallied eight points for the C five.

In their first foray the Cougars lined up like this:

A team—Maclin and Schroth, forwards; Carsten, center; and Quiberg, Ward and Blair, guards;

B team—Del Carlo, Cribbs and McKee, forwards; Thompson, center; and Boggs and Drennan, guards;

C team—Killian, Swesey and Smith, forwards; Baker, center; and Morris, Wigglesworth and Edelman, guards.

New Freight Rates Set

State Railroad Commission Establishes Charges For South San Joaquin Area

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP) — The State railroad commission today completed the second of three moves to establish uniform minimum rates for all freight carriers in California.

Following previous action in establishing uniform rates for southern California, the commission announced adjustment of rates in the area from Gaviota Pass and the Tehachapi Mountains as far north as Madera and Monterey counties.

Under the commission rulings, uniform minima for all carriers, trucks, trains and ships carrying from two tons to 18 tons, are established in a move to prevent rate cutting.

Third and final move in setting uniform rates, the commission said, is to be a general statewide summary of charges and review of earlier rulings.

Davey Mine Strikes Rich Lead, Report

The Dayton Consolidated Mining Company is reported to have been successful in a blast Friday night in locating the rich gold-bearing lead which has been the object of its search for several months.

The company operates the Davey Mine, at Garden Valley, adjoining the Black Oak mine, and for several months past is reported to have been doing development work in an effort to locate the lode from which the Black Oak was reported to be gaining rich returns.

Information current in Placerville Saturday afternoon said that a blast Friday night had tapped the chute on the 500 level of the Davey mine.

TRAFFIC CAPTAIN'S CAR IS STOLEN

Defendant In Petty Theft Case Nabbed For Taking Auto Without Permission

This is all very confusing:

You see, Walter Neilson was arrested Thursday night in Sacramento for taking something over $40 from the till at the Ivy Hotel bar and resigning his job as bartender. Charged with petty theft, he was found guilty Friday afternoon before Justice of the Peace T. F. Lewis who fined him $10, and put Neilson on probation to his uncle, conditioned upon full restitution of the money taken.

That was the story up until about 5 o'clock Friday evening when Mrs. E. A. Brewster went to Frey's Service Garage to get the family car — and couldn5t find it. Then she recalled that her traffic captain husband had been in Sacramento Friday and sought him.

"Where is the car?" she asked.

"In the garage, isn't it?"

"No.—didn't you take it to Sacramento today?"

Well, Captain Brewster hadn't taken it, he went to Sacramento in the state patrol car on patrol business, and so he was faced with the problem of solving the theft of his own car.

He checked up at the Ivy House and found that the keys to Frey's Garage, usually left with the Ivy House during the night for the convenience of garage patrons, were missing.

No one could account for them, and since Walter Neilson was the only one he was unable to interview, Brewster reported the matter to District Attorney Henry S. Lyon and Sheriff George M. Smith, and the three of them located Neilson in Sacramento.

He was taken into custody and admitted, according to the traffic captain that he had taken the car from Frey's garage about midnight Wednesday and used it as a means of getting to Sacramento.

The car was recovered at Tenth and L streets, where it had been abandoned and is held at a Sacramento garage.

Neilson was again lodged in the county jail and will be charged, officeials say, under that section of the Motor Vehicle Code which relates to taking a car without the owner's permission.

Friends of Captain Brewster are keeping him busy explaining how they can expect him to protect the automobiles of the general public against theft, when his own car was "snatched" out of the garage.

EMPIRE BOOKS "WELLS FARGO"

Paramount Pictures Epic Of Stage Coach Days To Be Shown Jan. 2 and 3

Scoring a "scoop" in motion picture booking, Manager Ruth Knacke, of the Empire Theater, has scheduled the showing of "Wells Fargo," the Paramount Pictures story of the stage coach days, for Sunday and Monday, January 2 and 3.

The picture will have a world premiere at New York City the latter part of this month and will open at San Francisco on December 30.

The fact that Placerville is able to see the picture on the January dates is a triumph for Miss Knacke in booking what, it is expected, will prove to be a major film attraction for this county.

The story of "Wells Fargo" is based on the operations of Wells Fargo & Company, Express, in the stage coach days, and the location of the tale is along the Pony Express Route between Virginia City, Placerville and San Francisco.

Miss Knacke said that tentative plans have been made to run a continuous show on Sunday, January 2, with three shows on Monday, January 3, so that opportunity will be afforded all parties interested to see the picture.

Mrs. Erla Blair, Mrs. E. R. Brander, Mrs. J. A. Hodapp, Mrs. Esther Dugan and Mrs. E. Ogden Hook were in the cast of "The Flying Grandmother" and Mrs. A. A. McKinnon, Mrs. Brander, Mrs. Mary Hand, Miss Monica McCusker, Mrs. Robert Carpenter and Mrs. C. E. The complete high school basketball schedule for the Cougars was announced Saturday by Coach L. A. Brown. This is in addition to the City League schedule in which the Cougars will participate, and which is now being drawn. The City League play opens January 11.

Cougars start their CIF schedule on January 14 with only three schools, Ione, Sutter Creek and El Dorado, in the league. Jackson was unable to enter this year, lacking a gymnasium.

Meanwhile, the Cougars fly at the San Juan teams Wednesday on the Orangevale court and meet Folsom here on Friday, December 10.

January 7th they will be hosts to San Juan and league play starts the following week on this schedule:

January 14—Sutter Creek here; January 21—Ione here; January 28—bye; February 4—Sutter Creek, there; February 11—Ione, there.

The Mother Lode CIF championship will be played on Friday, February 18, and this year will be played in the southern division, the exact location depending on the result of league play.

Separate funeral services were held at Sacramento Saturday for A. R. Robertson, father of Deputy District Attorney Robert E. Roberts, of this county, and W. E. Coffman, architect.

The two were killed Wednesday when the car in which they were riding to Jackson overturned near Michigan Bar on the Jackson-Sacramento highway.

Last rites for Mr. Coffman were held Saturday morning under auspices of Tehama Lodge No. 3, Masons. Entombment followed at East Lawn.

The services for Mr. Robertson, a cement company representative who was en route to Jackson with Mr. Coffman to see about a building project in which both were interested, were held on Saturday afternoon and also were under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity.

Last Day For Taxes Results In Rush

The county tax collector's office was open Saturday afternoon for the convenience of taxpayers. The date of delinquency of the first installment is December 5.

Whether, in view of the date falling on a Sunday, the tax collector will accept payments free from penalty on Monday, we are unable to state. There was a "rush of business" at the tax-collector's window during the day.

Postmaster Joseph Scherrer took advantage of the brilliant sunshine Saturday afternoon to take a "constitutional" on Main Street and greet some of his many friends. Joe looks fine.

PIERSON OPENS NEW ACREAGE

Newly Built Road Makes More Lots Available In Tract Approved By FHA Officials

Workmen have completed building a new road which is the major factor in opening up, for sale, a new portion of Bungalow Terrace subdivision, owned by J. K. Pierson at the junction of Elm and Locust stretts.

The new road extends along the large new tract, and at present will make available six good sized building lots, which have been placed on sale by the owner.

Mr. Pierson states that a fine grove of pine trees cover the hilltop subdivision and that many of the lots are level with some having a gentle slope. Size of each lot may be governed to the requirements of each prospective howe owner and the entire tract has been approved for FHA building loans. A building restriction will be carried in each deed in the amount of $5,000 minimum for each residence.

This is the second portion of Bungalow Terrace subdivision that has been up for home building; the first being made available in 1927, consisting of twenty-three large lots. All of these homesites, except seven have been sold, with nine homes, each costing $5,000 or more, having been constructed during that time, up to date.

The ninth home is now under construction by George A. Cole, building contractor, on the order of a home owner.

It consists of five rooms on the main floor with a large recreation room, an additional bathroom and shower and a garage in the basement. It is to be a white stucco exterior finish and is of Spanish design.

Malady Claims Ten Infants

Four Others Seriously Ill From Intestinal Ailment As Doctors Seek Cure

CHICAGO, (UP)—Bacteriologists and pathologists worked untiringly today to save eight infants from a mysterious disease which has taken the lives of 10 others in the modern nursery of St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Four of the eight were reported to be seriously ill.

The malady confines itself to the newborn and has baffled medical science since it first appeared in this country 33 years ago. Physicians admitted they know nothing of its origin.

The infection takes the form of enteritis—inflammation of the intestinal tract. The victims show no fever.

The first victim at St. Elizabeth's was Carol Williams, 14-days, who fell ill and died within a few hours on Nov. 23. Two more babies died the following day.

Twelve babies were sent to their homes to avoid possible infection and the hospital was closed to further obstetrical cases. Saturday six of the children were returned to the nursery. All were isolated with special nurses on an upper floor of the hospital. The disease continued to kill.

Nov. 27 three more died. The last death occurred Thursday.

ST. AGNES GUILD BAZAAR HELD ON FRIDAY AT GUILD HALL

The committee in charge of the annual bazaar of St. Agnes Guild of the Episcopal Church, held on Friday, reports that the affair was a success in every way and that they are grateful for the support given the occasion.

In addition to the bazaar committee, of which Mrs. S. E. Ronzone was chairman, the affair had the assistance of Mrs. W. A. Rantz and her committee, including Eleanor Chalder and Colleen Clayton, in the serving of refreshments; and of the following girls, directed by Miss Hotchkiss, of the high school faculty, who assisted with the entertainment program by singing: Marilyn Rupley, Norma Kelty, Helen MacBeth, Terry Thompson.

O. A. Cozad, who for some weeks had been seriously ill, was up and down Main Street Saturday. Probably this wasn't his first day out but we are glad to record his recovery, anyway.

GOOD OMEN

Up and Down Broadway

By JACK GAVER

United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, (UP) — The class-conscious Clifford Odets, dramatist darling of the resurgent Group Theater, has foresworn leftists preachments in the writing of "Golden Boy," a circumstance which should neither alarm those who await the revolution nor gratify those who dislike his trenchant criticisms of things economic and politic. Apparently it was a play that he had to get out of his system and, as it is good entertainment, no one should begrudge him its writing. Neither should they regard it as an indication of the line future efforts will follow.

"Golden Boy" is a drama about a prize fighter who gets into the game because he wants to make money and lead a more exciting life than the one to which he has been accustomed. In doing so, he casts aside a possible career as a violinist toward which his Italian fruit-huckster father has directed him, thus breaking the old man's heart and furnishing several moving moments in the play. There is an affair with his manager's sweetheart, a gangster and other incidentals to the prize fighting game, and an unhappy ending to round out the evening.

To be sure this is scarcely new stuff, piecemeal or in the round, but Odets, as everyone will know who has seen only one of his plays, has an interesting way of saying things that lifted him out of the ranks the moment his first drama was produced. He has an ear for the unusual phrase and word, which, somehow, he manages to employ without a sense of staining, and above all a good dramatic bent which keeps his work flowing in the proper ratio of ebb and flood.

The best writing—and the most satisfying acting too—is in the scenes in the fighter's home before and after he becomes a fighter. Here we meet such characters as the father, so admirably played by Morris Carnovsky that it takes first place in the large gallery of stage portraits he has created, a daughter and her hack-driving husband, a pessimistic neighbor of scholarly bent and a son who is a union organizer. The last character apparently is just a touch to let his audiences know that Odets hasn't abandoned the labor struggle because the character is not important and could be dispensed with easily.

The acting, as we are accustomed to expect in a Group production, is superb and does much to lift the play into the must-be-seen class. Aside from Carnovsky, there are Luther Adler as the prize fighter, his best work to date; Frances Farmer of the films, who is in a promising debut as the manager's girl; Roman Bohnen as the manager; Elia Kazan as the gangster and Jules Garfield as the fighter's brother-in-law. Others include Phoebe Brand, Lee Cobb, Curt Conway, Bob Lewis and Art Smith.

"Too Many Heroes" falls into that all too large category of plays whose intentions are admirable but which seem to serve no purpose—either as blistering propaganda or pure, simple entertainment. This is a preachment against lynching—no color issue involved since the victims are whites—and the first act does hold the interest because of the lively staging building up the organization of the mob and the jail raid in which the prisoners are seized. But the second and last act goes badly to pot as it attempts to show the revulsion which one of the mobsters feels and the effect it has on his life.

The author, Dore Schary, has contributed no fine writing to help things along. His lines and situations are uninspired and merely workmanlike at the best. I always hesitate to criticize any character in any play on the grounds that he doesn't seem credible in his actions and reactions because too often an author can make you look silly by pointing out that there is an exact counterpart in real life, but the fact remains that the playwright is under obligations to make his characters "seem" acceptable if he wants his play to appeal to those who see it.

I couldn't wholly accept Jeb Williams, the anti-lyncher who is swept away by the mob fury to the extent of personally killing one of the prisoners and then is so depressed that he imperils his own family happiness, his job and his relations with his friends in a rather futile attempt to make amends to his victim's widow.

James Bell, a fine actor who goes along season after season without getting a really good play, does his best with Jeb. Elspeth Eric, Francis Pierlot, Leslie Bingham, Richard Keene, Clyde Franklin, Joseph Sweeney and Shirley Booth are capable in major roles.

Carly Wharton produced the play.

Library additions: "To Quito and Back," the Ben Hecht play with which the Theater Guild started the season and which ran only six weeks. But it is grand reading even if the public didn't take to it on the stage. Covici-Friede publishes and anyone who has read and liked any of Hecht's short stories or novels will want it.

OCTOBER SALES UP TWO PER CENT OVER SEPTEMBER

Retail sales of 1,670 independent stores in California, when adjusted for the number of working days, showed an increase of 5 per cent in dollar volume for October, 1937, as compared with the same month for 1936, according to estimates of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. Without adjustment for the extra working day in October of last year, there was an increase of 1 per cent.

When adjusted for the number of working days, October, 1937, sales showed an increase of 2 per cent from September, 1937. Without adjustment, either for the number of working days or for seasonal influences, October sales were 6 per cent above September. There was one more working day in October than in September.

The statements given here are based upon confidential reports made by independent retailers to the San Francisco District office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, U. S. Department of Commerce, and released through its Trade Information Service. The figures of the larger independent stores of 24 kinds of business are included.

Berkeley and Santa Ana reported the greatest gains in total sales over October of last year with increases of 10 per cent, followed by San Jose with a gain of 12 per cent. Other Changes for the cities shown ranged down to 10 per cent loss recorded for Long Beach. Sales in cities with populations of 2,500 to 5,000 and 10,000 to 25,000 showed the greatest increases over last October with gains of 14 per cent, followed by cities of 25,00 to 50,000 with a gain of 9.5 per cent. Sergt. William Hickey and Patrolman William Edmonds were assigned to cruiser No. 6. Shortly after midnight, the following conversation took place:

"Car six calling headquarters."

"Go ahead, car six."

"We just went to a fire."

"Yes "

"Sure. We were riding along Broadway when we discovered the blaze. It was nothing but a bunch of old waste and rubbish. We used six pails of water, or maybe it was five. Then we used our car extinguisher."

"Did you put it out?"

"Naturally,"

"Car six signing off."

DOG SHOWS HUMANS HOW TO TREAT SLIGHT WOUNDS

DETROIT. (U.P.)—Mankind can take a lesson from the dog in the matter of successfully treating injuries, according to Dr. William D. Gatch, dean and professor of surgery at the University of Indiana medical school.

Cleanliness is the only real treatment for wounds, Dr. Gatch said at a hospital meeting here.

"And who ever knew of a dog's wounds becoming infected?" he asked.

The Indiana surgeon explained that a dog carefully and patiently licks his wounds. He said that if human beings exercised similar care and intelligence, instead of using antiseptics, they would be better off by far.

LONG-LEGGED TURKEYS GAIN IN NUMBERS IN PROPAGATION

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (U.P.) — The long-legged variety of turkey—one of the big reasons why the Pilgrims were thankful—is reappearing in West Virginia.

The state conservation commission has liberated more than 3,200 of these birds in the state game preserves during the past three years.

The birds are exceptionally cunning and seem to have a knack of evading the hunter. Twelve nimrods were set loose this season under the surveillance of game protectors, but only six were able to bring down one of the turkeys.

The mortality rate of the birds' eggs is high in the natural state, with only about 10 per cent of the young hatching, according to one commission official.

"Connecticut" Made A Two-Letter Word

ESSEX, Conn., (UP)—"A penny saved is a penny earned," goes the old saying, and does a certain Yankee skipper from this port believe it! He recently purchased a boat from another port and brought it home for repainting.

Having struck a bargain for the over all paint job, he was "getting down" to the lettering of the boat's name and the changing of the home port's name to Essex.

A yard official quoted a per-letter price for painting the words, "Essex, Conn."

"Make it 'Essex, Ct,'" snapped the owner, "and save two letters."

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Richard Archbold, wealthy scientist and aviator, landed his huge air boat today at Miami to complete a 14-hour, 2,300-mile transcontinental flight from San Diego to the 10th annual all-American air maneuvers.

The non-stop hop, on a straight course over land and water from the west coast, was a shake-down cruise for the plane which Archbold plans to use in a scientific expedition to Borneo next year to collect specimens for the American Museum of Natural History in New York and other organizations.

DAFFY DRIVERS

A GLORIOUS VIEW

Just a couple of pals who started out to enjoy the beauties of Mother Nature and ended up right in the old girl's lap. Some gents simply can't see the road for the scenery. This motorist had eyes for everything but the highway ahead. He saw many pretty sights—in fact he and his companion were simply carried away by the scenery. And they just escaped being carried away by the undertaker, too. Pay attention to your driving.

FOLSOM PRISON MAY PUT ORCHESTRA ON RADIO

HOLLYWOOD, (UP)—Daily Variety, film trade paper, today said a convict orchestra at Folsom Prison was seeking a radio sponsor with the full support of Warden Clyde Plummer.

In today's issue, Variety said:

"For radio sponsors who want a show that is different, there is but the formality of seeking the warden and a deal can be cooked up that fast.

"Warden Clyde Plummer yesterday declared that convicts will be permitted to broadcast from the penal institution and that he will consider all applications received by phone, wire, missive or in person."

PRACTICAL JOKERS COST TELEPHONE COMPANY ONE CLIENT

NEW YORK, (UP)—Things got so bad at the Roosa home today that Mrs. Roosa told the company to disconnect her telephone and packed her bags for a week-end in the country.

The Roosas became the victims of scores of practical jokers—Roosa called them "wise guys"—after the news leaked out yesterday that they had President Roosevelt's old telephone number and that it was rung frequently by persons asking for the President or members of his family.

Mrs. Roosa always thought the Roosevelt calls amusing because she's a fervent Republican, but the jokers overwhelmed her.

STINGS CAUSE ATTACKS

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—The insect-sting complex of Mrs. R. S. Pope of Fort Worth has physicians puzzled. At 60, she seems in good health until an insect stings her, then her heart goes bad. She has suffered heart attacks for years when stung by bees, wasps, yellowjackets and ants.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Simon were visitors in Sacramento Saturday and Mr. Simon took his red fez with him.
